# TikTok - Summary

Yes, TikTok is quite good for entertainment and bringing users back to life, especially when one is feeling dull. TikTok isn't the only entertainment application on the App Store. Nonetheless, it's a totally free application, and you can give it a chance.

Nowadays, most users are attracted to social networking, and Facebook is a widely known app when it comes to social networks. However, it's essential to note that social networks aren't only limited to Facebook. There are other videos-only social networks, such as TikTok.

Basically, TikTok is more than just a typical social network as it lets you polish up your dubbing and acting skills with a ton of fun. The application is pretty popular amongst the youths. The application comes with a simple yet user-friendly concept, which is perhaps why it became popular within a short period after changing its name from musical.ly.

TikTok usually allows you to capture and share a fifteen-second video in which you lip-sync to your favorite music, act alongside your selected skits, show off a dance routine or even create remixes by utilizing various features, like graphics, emojis, slo-mo and filters. # Key Features

In addition to letting you follow, like, and reshare content with other members on the platform, the application comes with the following features:

What geolocation does is that it instantly displays the currently active users who are broadcasting nearby or live.

# TikTok Review

Lastly, the idea behind this amazing musical social network is wonderful. However, the features are sometimes unappealing and teens need to modify the privacy settings prior to using the application. With great features for sharing your personal videos, looking for content and resharing work from other users, there is a huge potential for TikTok to be the 'giant' in the creative social world.

Having said that, since the application is all about popular music, the lyrics sometimes contain explicit content. Most parents have testified coming across content referencing self-harm and explicit adult content. If you have a kid who wants to use this app, ensure that you configure privacy settings accordingly.
